He will continue to sell the product of the Andover bakery, but will make a specialty of his own product in ice cream and confectionery. Several improvements such as an electric fan, new decorations, etc, will serve to make the ice cream parlor cool and attractive, and Mr. Rhodes guarantees his cream and ices to be pure and high grade. HEARTBURN.

When the quantity of food taken is too large or the quality too rich, heartburn is likely to follow, and especially so if the digestion has been weakened by constipation. Eat slowly and not too freely of easily digested food. Masticate the food thoroughly. Let six hours elapse between meals and when you feel a fullness and weight in the region of the stomach after eating, indicating that you have eaten too much, take one of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and the heartburn may be avoided. For sale by all drug stores.

The Son of His Mother.

The writer knows a man, a lonely old bachelor of 60, who is unmarried simply because the girl of his choice 30 years ago couldn't please all of his relatives. She was a very sweet girl, with pretty manners, but his mother said she was too delicate to be a real helpmeet, that he ought to marry rosy-cheeked Mary Jones, who could sew and make elegant desserts and work all day and then not feel to fatigued to dance all night. And his sisters found fault with his fiancee because she read Browning and Tennyson whe she might have been embroidering undersleeves; while his aunts declared that they didn't see how such a splendid looking young fellow could throw himself away on a pale slip of a girl when there were handsome maidens to be had for the asking.

After several months of argument of this sort, the splendid looking young fellow began to show that he thought he was sacrificing himself, and the slip of a girl, who had as much spirit as though she weighed 200 pounds, released him tearfully from his troth.

A few years afterwards she married a man without feminine relatives, and now she's accounted one of the handsomest matrons in her native town, and whe she meets the old bachelor she's very sweet to him and invites him to dinner on high days and holidays, so he won't be lonely at his hotel.

At an informal meeting of mothers the other day at which the truth was spoken with startling frankness, it was found that not a single woman present thoroughly liked either her daughters-in-law or her prospective daughters-in-law. The sons-in-law did very well. One didn't expect much of a strange man thrust upon the family but these usurping young women were never quite good enough for the youths they married.

One mother said that for her part she liked Margaret fairly well, but that she could never see her Jack marry a girl who had been engaged to another man once without a shudder, and that she felt quite sure Margaret had been engaged to Will Graham when she was 16. Of course Jack had been engaged several times, but that was another story.

Another matron declared that her son's wife didn't understand him in the least. 'Charles has been used to unlimited sympathy," she announced solemnly. "I know he is irritable, but is that any reason why Helen should tell him that he loved to dwell on his troubles entirely too much, and that she wished he'd cheer up and look on the bright side, for once. What the poor boy wants is some one to cry over him."

Still another mother complained because her daughter-in-law made the master of the house pick up his own clothing and put it away when he threw it on the floor, instead of following him around and doing that for him.

Altogether the meeting was so devoted to a discussion of grievances that one began to feel an interest in the young woman who advertised for a husband who was an orphan and without brothers and sisters, and a deep pity for the humble, ignorant and altogether insufficient girl who marries the son of his mother, unless that mother happens to be remarkably sensible and diplomatic.—Baltimore News.

HISTORICAL ANDOVER.

(No. 107 concluded.)

Debora Russe.

From Gosnold's visit to the Vineyard in 1602, when he was met by the band of 50 warriors, gay with copper breastplate and ear ring, to smoke the pipe of peace, to 1899 when, on a December day, alone in the old Charlestown woods by the sea, where lie the bones of the old Narragansetts, Gideon Ammons, last of the pure blood chiefs, lay down to die, at 90,—stretch the years of brave effort to recover promised rights withheld by Massachusetts from her wards. Freeman tells the story best of these survivors of that terrible winter day, when Andover boys helped crush the power of Philip, and gathered captives to be sold in the West Indies, till Barnstable protested. "Indian servants are a great success. We cannot do our work without them." So the remnants were left at Mashpee and other Cape settlements to learn to catch whales, while a few were bound out under guardians to trades, but were not secured by law with schooling, nor extra clothing, like the white children, and often not as well cared for as the African refugee from the Guinea Wars. The Mashpee experiment was not so well managed as was the larger reserve on the Penobscot, nor does it compare favorably with the Iroquois towns in New York. We have cause to hang our heads—"We took all and gave naught." In 1776, all were loyal to the new flag, and in the Canada expedition no other tribe sent such efficient soldiers. In 1783, there were 70 widows of war, and of 22 who went in one regiment only one came home. So the young women had to form alliances with stranded Hessians and mulattos set free by act of 1780. In 1792, 40 or 50 old people of pure blood remained on the reserve, who could speak the ancient tongue. Among the most noted of the leaders were Daniel Amos, in the coast trade, a man of power and character, and Israel Amos, one of the first to be elected selectman and school committee. Many of the old stock among the youth had gone outside before the Revolution to seek a chance to get the education or trade denied them at home. Restless as is the Indian under the routine of civilization, many seem to have failed in ambition to make a home under such limitations, and wandered off to the camps along the Penobscot and other Maine rivers, leaving their homes on the Cape to gradually pass into the ownership of the mixed blood who now hold the estates.

Of this class probably were many like Peter Bridges, employed as an Indian servant under the guardianship of the Bridges' family here. His descendants say he held the Indian name of Almonach when in his Penobscot home. Of the same class was very likely the mother of Prince Ames, an Indian also, whose history has not been recovered, nor does she enter Andover records. Debora Russe, mentioned in the last article as the last of her name in Andover, in the year 1766 enters our record as mother of the child Eunice Russe, whose father was the above Peter, or Almonach. The only fact known in regard to her residence here is the guardianship of Ebenezer Rand, her brother-in-law, who was appointed in 1762, possibly on the death of her mother, when Debora was 18. Why she chose to link her fortune with the Narragansett is a matter belonging to family history. Her sister and guardian, the church and civil authority, united to oppose the marriage, honorably sought, so Debora eloped like the "Little Minister" to the far away camp home of Peter, and was married Indian fashion. Life in the wilderness at that early date was unsafe, and to Andover she returned, where her daughter Eunice was born in 1766, and as Indian chiefs, like other royalty, have but the one name, Russe was the name she carried down to the date of her marriage here. Peter, who is described as a tall, fine looking man by his daughter, was devotedly attached to wife and child, but after the mother's death he gave up the little girl to the care of her aunt, who was bound to bring her up "civilized." He lived among the Penobscots for years, only once visiting Eunice when a small child, making the long week's journey to see her. She was a copy of her Indian father, and I have seen the portrait of her sagacious dark face and fine head. The early companion of her mother, Eunice Blanchard, probably gave her the name she bore. As was the custom, she was placed early in the family of Sergt. Nathan Abbott, whose wife was Abigail Ames, a sister of Capt. Ben Ames, and of Nathan Ames of Groton, in whose family was then living the son of an Indian mother and a white father, called Prince Ames.

In the family of Nathan Abbott was his nephew (adopted son) Dea. Abbott, my own great-grandfather, and young Debora Ames, a neice from Groton. Years later, she used to tell her daughter Clarissa, the late Mrs. Poor of Andover, how dainty and devout was the little maid Eunice Russe, and how they shared the same room and worked side by side, Eunice an example to her in every way. From the story told me by her great-granddaughter, we gather the life-long interest in the Word of God and her power in handling the truth. She had many friends among clergy and laity, who delighted to discuss with this prophetess the great issues of her day, for she was a woman of rare intelligence, and during her residence with her daughter, the late Mrs. Davis, whose death has been noted in our columns, she met the cultured and earnest men and women who joined in the cause of the oppressed.

In the family of Nathan Abbott was the young mulatto boy, Philip Abbott, whose name swells our record as one who lost his life at Bunker Hill. Prince Ames, like other lads, began his military career as an officer's servant at that same battle, being with Capt. Tim Ames from Groton. Later he joined the Andover lists as a three-years' veteran, and was with my great-grandfather and others at Bennington and other engagements. He learned the blacksmith's trade somewhere, possibly with Ebenezer Rand at the finish in Andover. He was a very ingenious and skillful workman, according to the old neighbors, Nathan Clark, Nehemiah Abbott, Jun., and the aged grandmother of Henry Boynton, who was Hannah Ames. From various sources, all confirmed by Mrs. Howard of Dedham, we gather the story of the marriage of Eunice Russe at 18, in 1784, to Prince Ames, the happy home near Uncle Ebenezer on Huckleberry Hill, beside an ancient oak, now the site of old Griffin or Brown estate. Here they raised ten fine children, of many shades and types, to maturity, and all able to make a successful thing of life. Delightful are the reminiscences of the rides on one horse of the whole tribe to the South Church, a long five miles from "Five Mile Pond," where Eunice Davis herself a year or two ago told me she skated in girlhood. The old Blanchard Pond staid longest in her failing memory of the days of long sermons and Sunday luncheons, and I only wish I had known her earlier, this ancient cousin to many of us here, who descends from Ralph Farnum and Elizabeth Holt. Dea. Nathan and his son, Capt. Job Abbott, being double Farnums in line, always kept a watchful interest in mother and daughter while the families of Eunice senior and junior were growing up.

Prince named his eldest Peter for the chief. He married Martha Clark, daughter of a widow slightly colored, of Newburyport, who lived awhile in the mill house in Ballardvale in 1810. They moved to Hudson, N. H., and left numerous descendants. Anna, perhaps named for Prince's mother, married Peter Hutchinson of Windsor, Vermont. Philip married Chloe Gerrish of Dedham. His name, probably given by Eunice in memory of the dead soldier of her girlhood days, proved unlucky. A neighbor tells of his death from injury at a broken bridge while leading elephants in a menagerie. George, who settled in Portsmouth, was the handsomest of the sons, being almost pure white. Tall and distinguished looking, he returned to Boston after 60 to die with his sister, Mrs. Davis. He was probably the son who learned the barber's trade, and had a shop in Portsmouth, visited by accident once by Mr. Eben Woodbury (who married Mehitable Ames). Attracted by the name on the sign, he spent a pleasant hour with the white haired old gentleman, recalling early Andover days. Alexander and James both enlisted as marines in naval service during the war of 1812 and neither returned. Lavinia, born 1803, was very handsome, with straight hair, according to Mrs. Boynton, and married John Hilton of Philadelphia. Samson was shot accidentally one day while out hunting with his brother Cyrus by a friend, at 24. Cyrus married, but had no children.

Prince Ames died suddenly of heart disease in 1816, and in 1819 Eunice, the second daughter born 1800, married Robert Amos of the Mashpee stock, resident at the Penobscot Reserve. He had a place on the Merrimac where he kept boats and bait, and there he was drowned in 1825, leaving a daughter, who married a Dedham Gerrish and a son, Charles Amos, who was trained in the family of Nathan Chandler of Concord, N. H., a relative of Mrs. "Capt. Job Abbott."

Aunt Rand died here in 1818 aged 86 (born in Pennacook in 1732). Her estate was sold to Jacob Shedd of Tewksbury, and after the second marriage of young Eunice to Rev. John Davis of the Colored Baptist Church in Boston, the mother rented her little home on Huckleberry Hill and lived with Eunice till her death near 98, about 1863. Her son, Charles Amos, now deceased, near 80, recalled the Chandlers with affection and a particularly pleasant memory of the John L. Abbott estate he visited here when a lad. When I recall the refined face and energy, the talent and intelligence indicated by the letters of the great-granddaughter, Mrs. Mary Howard, full of zeal for the traditions of her honorable blood of both sides, I take a peculiar satisfaction in the good work done by those two childless friends of Debora Russe, Mrs. Priscilla Rand and Abigail Ames, to whose care we owe the rare character and well trained group whose record would do credit to any Andover house. No reservation, however well conducted, will ever take the place of household training by individual families in our own homes, and here we worked out early the problem of a healthy and successful amalgamation of Mongolian and Caucasian and the proper method of training the new stock for future citizens. To the women of Andover and other reformers, I call attention to the record valuable alike to historian and scientist.

Summer complaint is unusually prevalent among children this season. A well developed case in the writer's family was cured last week by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy—one of the best patent medicines manufactured and which is always kept on hand at the home of ye scribe. This is not intended as a free puff for the company, who do not advertise with us, but to benefit little sufferers who may not be within easy access of a physician. No family should be without a bottle of this medicine in the house, especially in summer time.—Lansing, Iowa, Journal. For sale by all drug stores.

With three cheers for Mr. Moore two special cars left the corner of Essex and Lawrence streets Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock, comfortably filled with a joyous, happy throng. They were the clerks of the L. C. Moore Company going to spend the day at Willowdale. Arriving at their destination, dancing, boating and a sail in the steamer on the lake occupied the morning until the hour for dinner. It was a good dinner and all did ample justice to it. Appetites had been whetted by the cool air of the lake and grove and for an hour or more the ninety clerks ate and made merry.

After dinner about thirty-five invited guests arrived and the whole party repaired to the dance hall where a cake walk was the feature. All there said that the Osceolas' cake walks were "not in it" with this one, and there are vague rumors going around that Archie Hood is looking for Bert to try the honors at the next cake walk of the Osceolas.

During the afternoon, bowling, boating, recitations and singing were indulged in until late in the evening. Not one who attended the outing would have missed it for a great deal and it is doubtful whether any of the clerks enjoyed it more fully than did Mr Moore. He took the keenest pleasure in seeing his employes enjoy the outing that his generosity had provided. For eleven years has Mr. Moore given his clerks similar outings and the event is looked forward to by them with great anticipation. Before leaving the grove a vote of thanks was tendered Mr Moore for his kindness and the outing was considered by all to have been the best they've yet had.

At 6 o'clock a special electric conveyed many of the clerks home and at 8 o'clock the remainder left the grove by special car.

Among those present were: L. C Moore, F. H. Bowen, G. B. Silver, Geo. Duhamel, Harley Cummings, William Reeve, Eddie Begin, Elmer Haynes William Spiers, C. H. Evans, C. X O'Brieon, James Reeve, Jacob Kamarrow, Herbert Doucet, Nathan Black, Howard Cole, Wilfred Hagar, Rose Wynne, Lizzie Hennessey, Della Haffner, Bertha Colvin, Bertha Thissell, Violet Miller, Blanche Garceau, Gussie Beck, Sarah McQueeney, Emma Begin, Valedia Marier, Sadie Snow, Mabel Herrick, Mrs. Damon, Katie Glynn Mary McGuire, Delia Corcoran, Katie Dwyer, Jennie Bean, Vina Lacaillade, Margaret Campion, Julia Hennessey Katie Connor, Mary Smith, Josie Chabot, Annie Ryan, Julia Ryan, Mabel Lord, Blanche Grant, Katie Donovan Grace Burgess, Mabel Trol, Jennie Reagan, Chrissie Reagan, Margaret King. THE SAME OLD STORY.

J. A. Kelly relates an experience similar to that which has happened in almost every neighborhood in the United States and has been told and retold by thousands of others. He says: "Last summer I had an attack of dysentery and purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which I used according to directions and with entirely satisfactory results. This trouble was controlled much quicker than former attacks when I used other remedies." Mr. Kelly is a well known citizen of Henderson, N. C. For sale by all drug stores.

A FAMOUS ACTOR AS FISHERMAN.

"Naturally 'my dog Schneider' wasn't there. But Rip himself—Joseph Jefferson—was there," writes James S. Metcalfe, in his account of "Go'n Fishin' with Joe Jefferson," in The Ladies' Home Journal for July. "The place is Palm Beach, Florida. Mr. Jefferson talks of fishing as we leave the hotel and take our boat. 'The fish,' he says, 'is not all there is to fishing. It keeps you out in the fresh air and gives you occupation—just enough occupation—and interest. If you are a philosopher and want to think, you can think and fish at the same time.'

"We stop rowing and Mr. Jefferson looks at the water with experienced eye and tells the Captain where to drop the anchor. In a minute our hooks are baited and over the side. Both our rods are immediately jerking in a fashion which indicates that something besides the current is pulling our lines. The rushes of the fish threaten to entangle our lines, but Mr. Jefferson expertly keeps his fish pretty well to his own side of the boat until finally we drag in at almost the same instant two splendid sheepshead.

"The sport continues good, and there is no doubt about Mr. Jefferson's keen delight in it. Our success rouses interest in the neighboring boats. As we make other catches in rapid succession they come closer to us. A young woman in the next boat had been industriously making casts without taking any fish. Mr. Jefferson had been busy pulling in fish, but not too busy to notice her operations. 'Young lady,' he finally says in a kindly tone, 'excuse me, but I think you would have better luck if you would move the sinkers a little bit further up your line and throw your hook in over there," indicating with his finger a spot a little nearer our boat. She thanks him and does as he suggests. In an instant her rod shows the jerkings which indicate that a fish has been hooked."—Ladies' Home Journal for July.

No Magic in This.

The sensation of pain, tenderness and swelling in the joints caused by rheumatism makes one wonder what the cause of this pain is. Scientific research shows us that the pain is caused by an acid in the system which should not be there. This acid is called "uric acid." It hides itself in the joints, and causes them to swell and become very painful. It is perfectly clear then that the ideal cure for this disease would be some substance that would dissolve the uric acid and rid the system of it. This is exactly what is done by TARTARLITHINE. The rheumatism is gone, but there is no magic in the cure. It is all based on science, or in other words, common sense. No matter how long standing the case is TARTARLITHINE will cure it. CRICKET.

Andover, 57; Lawrence, 50.

Andover broke the long string of defeats last Saturday and gained an overwhelming victory over Lawrence. The game was played on the local crease and was a league contest. The wicket selected was a splendid one and good for run getting.

Lawrence batted first, sending in the two Hodgdons, both careful batters. Neither, however, made any stand, smart fielding by Rhodes, whose fine stop retired one, run out, and next over he caught out the other. Gill hit one back to Angus and was held. Throp was clean bowled by Saunders and four wickets were down for eight runs. Wainwright and Pearson stopped the rot and both hit out freely until 31 was reached, when Bruce, with his first ball, bowled Pearson with a shooter. Wainwright ran himself out foolishly shortly afterwards, nine wickets being down for 34 runs, of which Wainwright had 20 and Pearson 10. Funeaux and Tyning, the two last men, gave some trouble and before Saunders, who had just gone in a second time, bowled the latter, the score had reached an even 50.

Andover felt confident of beating this and Saunders and Parkinson started out to do it. Both were in good form and runs came fast. At 29, Harry hit a ball too softly and Hodgdon held it. Pease did not last long, but on Ritchie's joining Parkinson, the game was soon won, both giving the fielders plenty to do. At 57 the Andover captain closed his inning at the request of the Lawrence players. Parkinson played a fine inning for 24 and Ritchie was also not out with 12. Andover thus won by 7 runs and eight wickets. Bowling for Andover, Saunders had 3 for 7 and Bruce 2 for 8.

A scrub team of the Andover cricket club played a team of baseball players, who had the assistance of John Angus and Alex. Dick as bowlers, on the local crease Friday afternoon. The first inning of both teams was a pitchers' battle, strikeouts being numerous and hits scarce. The baseballists were all out for 9 and their opponents for 17. In the second inning the baseballists lined out singles, two baggers, tripples and home runs in good shape. Mander led with six singles, a two bagger and a home run a total of 12, the highest score of the game. The inning closed at 52. The scrub only scored 23 and in the two innings was defeated by 21 runs. H. Kydd for the scrub, and Angus, Dick and Boyle twirled in great shape. The final score was: Andover scrub, 40; baseballist, 61.

The Andover Cricket club will play the Lynns at Beach Bluff, Saturday. The team, which is as follows, will leave the hill on the 12.45 electric for Lynn: Saunders, Dundas, Rhodes, Parkinson, Christie, Ritchie, Dane, Poland, A. Dick, McDermitt and H. Kydd.

In Camp at Boxford.

BOXFORD, July 8—The weather is indeed favoring the 8th infantry, M. V. M., as a more perfect day for military duty could not be imagined.

The early morning hours were cool and refreshing with a delightful cool breeze blowing across the field, but toward noon old Sol began to get in his work, and during the shelter-tent drill several men were prostrated, but none seriously.

Col. Pew, as he stated in his orders, proposes to make this a camp of instruction, and the men and also the officers realized this morning that for the next six days they would have to earn the stipend allowed by the state, or the colonel would know the reason why.

The day was one of hard work, beginning with setting-up drill and ending with evening parade at which the regiment went through the shelter-tent drill at the conclusion of the ceremony, and were mustered for pay.

One of the advantages of this camp is the opportunity the regiment has for rifle practice, and today four companies went to the range, Cos. A and B in the morning and Cos C and D in the afternoon, and quite a number of men were qualified.

At noon the three majors held a school of officers, and all three battalions were out for drill, both morning and afternoon.

The usual evening parade wound up the duty of the day, and both officers and men must have been extremely gratified at the way the day's duty had been performed.

Today Adjt. Gen. Dalton came down from Boston and with Col. Pew made a tour of the camp and departed well pleased with what he had seen.

Thus far the camp has been a remarkable success, every duty ordered has been well performed, and from a sanitary standpoint it is perfect.

The guard mount today was very indifferent, but will undoubtedly improve before the week is out. The detail was Capt. Hilliker of Co. D, officer of the day, and Lieut. Stearns of Co. C, officer of the guard.

Many men who were absent came to camp today and the strength of the regiment was materially increased. The number in camp today was:

Field staff and band,	69
Co A,	46
Co. B,	61
Co C,	57
Co. D,	54
Co. E,	46
Co. F,	45
Co. G,	60
Co. H,	60
Co. I,	63
Co. L,	56
Co. M,	45
Total,	666

CAMP WILLIAM C. DOW, Headquarters Eighth Regiment, Boxford, July 9.—Following reveille this morning came setting up drill, and a half-hour of the exercises took a great many kinks out of the men. After breakfast the first duty was drill, under command of battalion commanders. There was a noticeable improvement in the drill of the regiment, and by tomorrow, at the rate at which the regiment is improving it ought to be in excellent condition.

The guard mount this morning was noticeable for its improvement over the past two days.

Shortly after guard mount the rain came down heavily, and all drills and duty were dispensed with and up to dinner it rained quite steadily.

At dinner call at 12 m. the men formed in company streets and ate at the tables placed at the end of the company streets, while the officers ate at the mess house of the Second Corps Cadets camp.

This camp, it is safe to say, is on a par with any regular camp that ever existed. To commence with, the tents are the same as the regular army tents and the men sleep on straw sacks, just as they do in the regular service.

Each company has a company cook who cooks the food for the men, and the kitchens, where the food is cooked, are temporary affairs, erected by the detail sent ahead by each company to prepare the camp for the reception of the company. The food is cooked on what are known as Buzzacot ovens; the latter are ingenious affairs, used almost entirely in the regular army, and can be packed up so that they make a very small package.

Good, very good, and wholesome food is issued to the men, the meat being the best of sirloin steak and roast beef, while the coffee and bread are as good as furnished anywhere.

For washing purposes barrels are filled with water by a team, under command of a non-commissioned officer and detail, and wooden stands with plain tin wash basins, serve to keep the men in a cleanly condition.

Another feature, and a very interesting one, is the crematory where all the camp refuse is burned, and it has proven to be a great success.

All the water used for drinking purposes is first cooked and then filtered through barrels, an ingenious arrangement erected by Q. M. Craig of the regiment.

Each evening at evening parade there is shelter tent drill immediately following the parade and the regiment has been progressing rapidly in this drill; up to the present time, the Third Battalion, Major Eldredge commanding, has carried off the honors.

At about 2.30 this afternoon the rain stopped and the officers tried revolver practice, while Inspector Rifle Practice Lieutenant Langdon qualified a number of men in marksmanship.

All men who shirk duty are given extra drill, and today there are about 60 men drilling back of the colonel's quarters, watched by him, under command of a lieutenant.

Military courtesy is perfect, and excepting a tendency on the part of some men to go about with blouses open or without blouses, there can be no very serious criticism made on what has thus far proven to be one of the best camps ever held by a regiment of this or any other state.

The officers of the regiment had revolver practice this afternoon, while the Third Battalion had shelter tent drill in its company streets.

Captain Stopford, late of the Forty-Second Infantry, U. S. V., looking none the worse for his experience in the Philippines, is a guest of Colonel Pew, and tonight the regiment gave a review complimentary to him.

METHUEN.

Grange Meeting.

An interesting meeting of the Methuen grange, K. of P. was held in Grange hall Monday night. The meeting was of a patriotic nature. Patriotic songs were substituted for the regular grange songs, and patriotic quotations were given by the members of the grange which were very interesting. Miss Eva Sargent sang a patriotic song and Mrs. M. A. Crosby gave an interesting reading entitled "The Fourth of July barbecue." The committee in charge of the entertainment comprised Bessie M. Swan, Lizzie Morse, Grace K. Webster, Julia Gordon, and Mattie Prescott. After the transaction of the regular business, the committee on picnic made its report. Joseph E. Buswell and Edward Richardson were chosen on the committee vice Asa Harris and Samuel Emerson, resigned. The committee is now composed of Beniah Gordon, J. E. Buswell, and Edward Richardson. The picnic will be held at Canobie lake, Thursday, July 25. The following sub-committees were chosen for the affair: Gate committee, Millard Emerson, Jessie Prescott, Hugh F. Coburn, Wesley Young, and A. N. Kimball. Committee on sports, Samuel Emerson, L. E. Burnham, and C. E. Young. Committee on refreshments, John Crosby and L. Edwards. Committee on dancing and music, Edward Richardson. The general committee will have charge of the matters relating to transportation, grove, advertising, etc. After the meeting lemonade was served. The meeting broke up about 10 o'clock.

PETITION TO SELL.

The trustees in bankruptcy of the Globe and Prospect Worsted mills have petitioned for permission to sell all the property of the two plants free from incumbrance. Notice that the petition has been filed with Judge Thompson has been sent to all the creditors and a meeting of the creditors will be held in this city July 16 for the purpose of hearing any objection which may be offered to the sale.

If there be no objection which in the opinion of the court ought to prevent the sale, the property will be disposed of, probably at auction, some time between the 20th and 30th of this month.

After the sale the mills will undoubtedly be started up again.

LAWRENCE BOY'S BIG CATCH.

Sunday a party of Lawrence boys chartered the 40-foot sloop Lucy, Capt. Sherbourne, of Newburyport, and sailed to the rocks off Cape Ann, where they enjoyed a good day's fishing. The sensational catch of the day was made by Thomas F. Honohan, an electrical expert in the employ of the New England Telegraph and Telephone company, at present engaged in the installation of the new common battery switchboard in Haverhill. The fish was an immense rock cod, measuring four feet two inches in length and weighing 65 pounds. It is said to be the largest cod caught in that vicinity in many years. The boys think that Mr. Honohan has certainly made a record-breaking catch, and he was the recipient of hearty congraulations from his fellow workers at the new telephone building.

THE BEST LINIMENT FOR STRAINS

Mr. F. H. Wells, the merchant at Deer Park, Long Island, N. Y., says: "I always recommend Chamberlain's Pain Balm as the best liniment for strains. I used it last winter for a severe lameness in the side, resulting from a strain, and was greatly pleased with the quick relief and cure it effected." For sale by all drug stores.

SPAULDING—SCANLIN.

Ross S Spaulding of 41 Prospect street Methuen and Miss Elizabeth Scanlin of Lowell were united in marriage Sunday, at the parochial residence of St. Patrick's church, Lowell, Rev. Fr. Callahan being the officiating clergyman. John Scanlin of Bridgeport, Conn., a brother of the bride, was best man, and the bridesmaid was Miss Lilly T. Campbell. The bride was attractively gowned in a slate colored dress, trimmed with plum silk and white silk lace, and carried bride's roses. The bridesmaid wore blue, trimmed with white silk and white lace and carried tea roses. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Scanlin, 259 Worthen street, Lowell, only relatives of the young couple being present. Mr. and Mrs. Spaulding were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Scanlin and Mrs. Alice Rooney. The dining room and parlor were beautifully decorated with palms and cut flowers. Among those present were relatives from Boston, Hyde Park, Bridgeport, Conn., and Dover, N. H. Mr. and Mrs. Spaulding left on an evening train for an extended wedding tour.

PASTOR WILL ACCEPT CALL.

The local Universalists will be pleased to learn that Rev. W. R. Libby of Jamaica Plain has decided to accept the call recently extended him by the local Universalist society.

At a meeting of the society of St. Paul's Universalist church, Jamaica Plain, held Monday evening, at the church, the resignation of the pastor, Mr. Libby, was accepted. Mr. Libby's letter of resignation was received by the society June 15, and after due consideration was accepted Monday evening.

The retiring pastor, who is a graduate of Tufts college, class of '88, accepted a call to the Jamaica Plain church in October, 1895, going there from Blue Island, Ill. Mr. Libby's pastorate has been a successful one in Jamaica Plain and the society has gained in strength during his ministration of its affairs during the past six years, and he leaves the society in excellent financial condition, and takes with him the best wishes of his former parishioners.

He has recently received a number of calls from other churches in New England, but will probably accept the earnest call to the pulpit of the Universalist church here. His pastorate at St. Paul's will cease in September, and Mr. Libby expects to assume his duties in Methuen in October.

Mr. Libby has spoken at the local church a number of times and has made a very favorable impression.

Harry R. Dow, who died Tuesday in Manchester was a brother to Mrs. John P. Scollay of this town.

Miss Ellen L. Pearl has severed her connection with the firm of Robertson, Sutherland & Co., where she has been employed as bookkeeper.

The adjourned town meeting will be held Saturday afternoon at two o'clock to hear the report of the school commission, and the committee appointed to investigate the accident by which Ernest Gaunt lost his eye at the High school laboratory.

WANTED A CHANGE.

He—What a romantic spot this laneway is, to be sure. Why not sit on this old rail fence for a while and enjoy the lingering twilight?

She—I'd rather not, thank you.

He—Rather not? Why, what possible objection can you have to my proposal?

She—Oh, if you're going to propose, that's another thing; but it's being "on the fence" that made all my other beaux backward about proposing.—Richmond Dispatch.

A STORMY TRIP.

The wind was fresh and so was Tom,
so to his father's yawl
He stole, but found to his dismay, though bravely he did haul,
He couldn't set the sail or work the mean old thing at all.

Some hours later, dripping wet — from the boat he'd had a fall—Tom homeward sneaked and met (of course!) his father in the hall,
And then there rose a spanking breeze,
succeeded by a squall.

Last Saturday's Hearing.

Certainly no one could complain that there was any restriction placed upon any speaker at the street railway hearing last Saturday. The greatest latitude was allowed everybody and the greatest advantage was taken of this liberty by some of the speakers.

It was not until after a long and entirely unnecessary discussion of phases of the question not really open for consideration, that the meeting was brought back to the real point for which it was called, by the very clear and emphatic remarks of Judge Poor.

We said unnecessary discussion, but such a characterization does not mean that the discussion was not of value as showing the public mind upon the street railway situation. It was not all as courteous as it might have been, but over zealousness often destroys courtesy in debate. Prof. Smyth's remarks were interesting and valuable, because he spoke as one who had not only seen many of the difficulties which it was designed to overcome, but as one who had given the subject much study and thought. The generous applause which he received, showed that the public not only appreciated his remarks, but even more appreciated the very deep interest which he has taken in adjusting the long and troublesome question.

Col. Woodward showed the same spirit of fairness as that which has marked his entire course in his work in Andover, and while he has undoubtedly secured valuable rights from the town, he has reciprocated much more generously than have any others, similarly benefitted.

There seems now to be no further obstacles likely to arise in the way of building first class street railway service for the town and the thousands of travellers who pass through it. Before this is accomplished, and particularly during the next few months, our citizens are bound to suffer great inconveniences from the tearing up of Main street. It will tax all the patience of our teamsters and carriage drivers, and seriously disturb the peace of mind of the car patrons, but it seems to be a necessary prelude to an harmonious final adjustment. Now that the work is actually begun, the end seems to be really in sight.

Editorial Cinders.

There is little but "Summer Saunterers" in the newspapers during these summer months, and more and more are the months of July and August given over to the work of resting for the work of the other ten months of the year. There are very few persons who do not have a vacation, and really there are very few who do not need one. The pressure grows higher every year, and the demands of life more exacting. We may laugh at the "strenuous life" idea but there is much more to it than its yield of squibs for the paragrapher. The summer vacation is the only safety valve to the year of high pressure, and the more universal the custom of the annual "blow-off" becomes, the longer lived will the generation be.

Few people realize the beauty of the grounds which are occupied by the Andover Cricket club. With the acquirement of a path through the Smith & Dove Co.'s land the long time disagreeable entrance gives way to a most beautiful walk. The members of the club have little money but unbounded enthusiasm, and their efforts promise to make in time what has long been desired by many Abbott Village residents, —an Indian Ridge Park of surpassing beauty.

It seems to be the common thing just now for a car to leave the track and stop communication with Lawrence for an hour or two. There appears to have been good ground for Mr. DeCourcy's suggestion that the only thing that kept the rails in place was the frost. Would that the Spring had been even later, for the comfort of Andover and Lawrence travellers.

We sincerely hope that the selectmen will be able to arrange a modification of the L. L. & H. franchise, so that the obnoxious paving blocks may be replaced by first class macadam. Chairman Goldsmith has been most strenuous in his work to this end, and it would seem as if such a concession by the L. L. & H. road would help them very greatly in public estimation.

You aren't much of a fellow nowadays if you can't tell a big story about how little gas your wife used in cooking a big dinner, doing a big washing, and illuminating for a big party. Andoverians are as happy over the new gas as the proverbial small boy with his new pair of boots.

Union Picnic.

In accordance with the custom of several years, the Episcopal churches of Andover and North Andover, Christ and St. Paul's, united to hold their annual picnic, the place chosen being Canobie lake and the day last Saturday. Threatening weather and showers in the early morning did not dampen the ardor of the intended picnicers and a large number turned out for what proved to be a most enjoyable time. A special train left here at 8.40 to convey the Andover people to the grove and returning reached Andover shortly before 6 o'clock.

The Columbian orchestra of Lawrence, accompanied the merry makers and furnished music throughout the day for dancing. The bowling alley and skating rink at the grove was also a source of much amusement to many during the few hours that the church people spent at Canobie. Of course the boats were in as great demand as usual.

Andover rather had the better of the sports. The 50 yard dash was won by Harris Brown of North Andover, with Walter Thompson a close second. Joe Soutar won the base ball throwing contest, throwing the sphere 225 feet. In the running high broad jump and the running high jump, Walter Thomson of Andover, won. The potato race was also won by an Andover boy, James Abbott securing first place with ease. The three-legged race was won by Walter Wrigley and James Abbott of Andover.

One of the chief features of the day was the ball game between the Andover and North Andover contingents, which was stopped in the eighth inning on account of a disputed decision of the umpire's, with Andover in the lead 6 to 3. The game was forfeited to Andover with a score of 9 to 0. When trying to catch a North Andover player at first base, Soutar of Andover, threw the ball over Wrigley's head and it went into the pond. The North Andover players contended that the base runner could score on the play, but the umpire decided that he must remain at third. The North Andover boys refused to continue the game. The make up of the teams was as follows: Andover—Foster, p; Collins, c; Wrigley, 1st; Long, 2d; Soutar, 3d; Rogaman, ss; Abbott, rf; Sellers, cf; G. Abbott, lf. North Andover — Kershaw and Kelley, p; Curley, c; Daw, 1st; Kershaw and Kelley, ss; Houghton, 2d; Hamlin, 3d; Carey and Taylor, rf; Donley, cf; Reid, lf.

From State Chemist.

In a line with what the Townsman related in regard to the cause of the bad taste and smell in the town's water supply a couple of weeks ago, the following letter from H. W. Clark, chemist in charge of the experiment station and laboratories, Lawrence, to Supt. Smith, of the Board of Public Works, is self-explanatory:

Boston, Mass., July 9, 1901.

Mr. John E. Smith.

Dear Sir: — The mass of vegetable matter forwarded to us proved to be on examination almost entirely decomposing fresh water sponge (Spongilla fluviatalis). This organism in this state gives off a very strong odor and the odor in the water may have been entirely due to it, or perhaps partly due to this and perhaps to some other organism, such as Dinobryon, that had disappeared before the samples were taken. A number of different organisms cause at times disagreeable tastes and odors in surface water supplies.

Yours very truly,
H. W. CLARK.

Valuable Archaeological Collection.

Prof. W. K. Moorehead will arrive from the West the latter part of this week to store the archaeological collection, recently donated to the academy, in the gymnasium building.

This collection fills 130 large boxes and comes by express, a full car load. There are over 40,000 specimens. No larger single shipment of prehistoric artifacts, etc., has been made since the Smithsonian collected two car loads of ancient pottery in the Southwest ten years ago.

On account of its value, the exhibit comes by express. It comprises pottery from Arizona and New Mexico — the Cliff Dweller country — stone pipes, copper ornaments and ceremonial plates from the Mississippi Valley mounds; crania and skeletons from ancient graves in Ohio, Illinois, etc.; stone tablets and charms; axes, pestles, flint tools and other interesting relics of primitive man from all parts of the United States.

When the archaeological building is ready this collection is to be placed on exhibition and students (and the public as well) will find it both instructive and entertaining.

GROCERS JOIN FORCES

J. H. Campion of This Place a Member of New Combine of Currier & Campion, Whose Successful Future Seems Assured.

The Currier & Campion Company is the name of the corporation which has been organized under the laws of the state of Massachusetts, to hereafter carry on the business of the well known grocery establishments of W. D. Currier, 149 Essex street, Lawrence; Currier & Campion, 106 South Broadway, Lawrence; and J. H. Campion & Co., Elm Square, Andover. The firms have been organized to be known on and after July 1st by the above corporation name.

The officers of the company are W. D. Currier, president, and J. H. Campion, treasurer. The growth of each of the distinct concerns, within the past 20 years, has been rapid and gratifying, and the present consolidation is a step toward even greater success and satisfaction for the company's many customers.

The grocery store of W. D. Currier, on Essex street, was started in 1882 and was at that time known under the firm name of Doble & Currier. For six years it was run by that firm, but in 1888, Mr. Currier purchased the interest of his partner and up to the first of the present month the store has been under the name of W. D. Currier.

The grocery store of J. H. Campion & Co., Andover, was established in 1886 and has been under that firm name up to the time of the consolidation.

The store of Currier & Campion on South Broadway, was formerly that of the H. C. King Co., but was purchased by Messrs. Currier and Campion a few months ago. The store will be greatly remodelled and fine new wagons will be placed in service. The bakery will continue to be run in conjunction with the grocery store and the establishment will in every way be modern and up-to-date.

The three stores are already heavy distributors, and with the advantage to be gained through large single buying, increased economy in handling, and many other ways presented through combination of interests, the company believes that it can assure its customers the most reliable and lowest priced grocery service in New England.

New "Super" at Abbot.

At a meeting of the trustees of Abbot academy held shortly after the close of school, it was decided that a superintendent of the grounds and buildings was necessary at Abbot, and Allen F. Abbott, of this place, was chosen for the position. The fact of his election was not publicly announced until recently, however, as the trustees waited to hear from Mr. Abbott, who was in Nantucket on a business trip of about two weeks' duration.

On his return he made up his mind to accept the office and consequently he assumed charge there Monday. His wide and varied business experience, his knowledge of carpentry, repairing and the like, and his acquaintance in town, ought to make him "the man for the place," and a valuable addition to the corps of efficient and painstaking teachers and other officials at the academy.

His business heretofore has been that of carpentry, at which he was considered a careful and an excellent workman, and his shop was located on Park street, near Tuttle & Morrison's. This business, Mr. Abbott has disposed of to J. W. Richardson, who will continue the business at the old stand in the future.

There can be little doubt but that Mr. Abbott will be just as successful in his new role as superintendent as he has been in past years at the business in which he has been engaged.

Card.

Allen F. Abbott wishes to announce that on account of his new duties he has disposed of his carpentry and jobbing business to J. W. Richardson, who will continue doing work at the old stand.

Christ Church Choir Anniversary.

The second anniversary of the vested choir at Christ church was observed by special music last Sunday morning. There was a large congregation present who had the pleasure of listening to an excellent musical program. The choir walked from the chapel to the church and marched down the centre aisle to the choir seats singing the processional hymn, "The Son of God goes forth to war," music by Whitney. The offertory anthem, "He watching over Israel," from Mendelssohn's Elijah, was especially well rendered and reflected great credit on both the choir and its able leader, John Bachelder.

Rev. Frederic Palmer spoke of the dignity which music gave to the worship of God, and alluded to services rendered by all choristers during the past years. The following was the musical program:

Organ Voluntary, 1st Movement III Sonata in A minor. J. Rheinberger
Processional, "The Son of God goes forth to war." S. B Whitney
Venite, Plain Chant.
Te Deum in C. Sir George Martin
"Jubilate Deo," Plain Chant
Hymn, "The spacious firmament." J. Haydn
"Gloria Tibi." Tours
Offertory Anthem, "He watching over Israel." Mendelssohn
Sanctus. Stacner
Hymn, "In the hour of trial." Dykes
Gloria in Excelsis, Old Chant.
Recessional, "I heard the sound of voices." Storer
Organ Postlude in D. Lemmens

Wedding.

HOLT-PURINGTON.

One of the most elaborate social events held for years in Bethel, Me., was the wedding of Miss Alice Emma Purington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Purington, the former a leading man of the place, to John Vorbis Holt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ballard Holt, of this place, which occurred in the Congregational church in Bethel, Thursday evening, June 27th.

The church decorations, mainly daisies, were very elaborate and were arranged by friends and by students from Gould academy at Bethel, in which Mrs. Holt had been a teacher for five years, instructing in rhetoric, English literature and history. The edifice was crowded to the doors with invited guests, over one thousand invitations having been issued. The doors were opened at 7 o'clock and until 7.30, the time set for the ceremony, Miss Laura C. Hall gave an organ recital. When the time arrived for the ceremony the doors were closed, and to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, the bridal party entered and moved down the aisle to the alter.

First came the ushers, Arthur Holt, a brother of the groom from Andover, Walter Washburne of Salem, Mass., George B. Farnsworth and Fred B. Merrill, both of Bethel, Me. Following came the bridesmaids, Miss Belle Purington, sister of the bride, Miss Elsie Holt, sister of the groom, Miss Mabelle Rand of Bethel, and Miss Alma Gehring of Cleveland, Ohio. Then, two little flower girls, cousins of the bride, Marjorie and Hilda Chandler, and next the maid of honor, Miss Jennie Canty of Maplewood. Last of all the bride proceeded down the aisle accompanied by her father. At the front of the church the groom, with his best man, Howard Wright of this place, met his bride and conducted her to a place before the officiating clergyman, Rev. Webster Woodbury of South Framingham, an uncle of the bride, who performed the ceremony assisted by Rev. Mr. Vailey. The double ring service was used. At the close Mendelssohn's wedding march was rendered as the party withdrew from the church.

The bride was gowned in an ivory duchess satin, court train, with elaborate trimmings of lace and mousseline de soie, and wore a tulle veil fastened with a pearl brooch, the groom's gift to his bride. She carried bride roses. The maid of honor wore a white silk muslin trimmed with lace. Her flowers were a bunch of pink carnations. Each of the four bridesmaids were dressed in a white muslin made over pink, and their bouquets were daisies tied with pink ribbon. The little flower maids were prettily gowned in white and carried large baskets of daisies.

After the ceremony a charming reception was given at the bride's parents' on Main street, Bethel. The house decorations were of evergreen and roses, and were arranged under the direction of the ushers and bridesmaids. The guests were met in the hall by the ushers who presented them in turn to Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Purington, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bodwell of Bradford, and lastly to the newly married couple. A daintly list of refreshments was served in the dining-room.

Mr. and Mrs. Holt received some very handsome and expensive presents, among them a solid silver water pitcher from Mr. Holt's fellow clerk's at Lee, Higginson & Co.'s, Boston, where he is a valued and trusted employee, and a clock from the clerks of the Howard National bank, Boston, at which Mr. Holt was formerly employed. There were pieces of cut glass, considerable hand-painted china and fine linen needle work, much of the latter the work of nuns.

The bride is one of the most prominent young women, socially, of Bethel, and is a talented musician, instrumentally and vocally. The groom is too well known in Andover to require comment.

Mr. and Mrs. Holt left on a wedding trip to the White mountain region of New Hampshire, and on their return took up their residence in Melrose for the summer. Later on they expect to come to Andover to live.

Among those present at the wedding from town were Arthur Holt, Misses Marion and Elsie Holt, brother and sisters of the groom, Howard Wright; also Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bodwell of Bradford, the latter the groom's sister.

H., since which time his life has been connected with the hotel business. For the past eight years he has been proprietor of the Tremont House, Nashua, N. H. His courteous manner, cheerful disposition and strict business integrity had made for him hosts of friends; and his public spirit gave him a place in the highest esteem of the citizens of Nashua. He is survived by his widow, the daughter of Col. A. T. Pierce of Dover, N. H.; two brothers, Albert Barnard of Bradford and George N. Barnard of Methuen; and a sister, Mrs. Sarah E. Abbott of Andover.

Funeral services were held at Nashua, Wednesday, and the body taken to Dover for burial, under escort of a delegation from St. George commandery, K. T.

20th Century Trolley Trips.

Several years ago, Miss Katharine M. Abbott, who had become known to Andover readers through regular work on the Townsman, published the first number of what has now become a very attractive series of street railway guides. The last of the series is just issued under the title of the "20th Century Trolley Trips" and is like all the others—better than the last. It is full of information as to how to go and what to see and is illustrated very attractively.

Work of Relaying Tracks of Lynn & Boston Road on Main Street has Already Begun — Double Tracks Assured and a Free Transfer to Square Until Ready.

While the hearing in the lower town hall, last Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, was in some respects rather farcial for the reason that the main point of the sitting seemed to be lost track of almost entirely, it certainly showed that the sentiment of the citizens upheld the selectmen's attitude and actions on the question of double tracks. The matter to be exploited was the question of relocation of the Lynn & Boston street railway company's tracks, formerly those of the L. L. & H. on Main street, from the square to the top of the hill, so that both the L. & B. and the L. & R. tracks should be equi distant from the centre of the street.

Chairman Goldsmith of the board of selectmen opened the hearing and read the petition of the Lynn & Boston road for relocation. The other members of the board, S. H. Boutwell and J. S. Stark, were present and the hall was well filled with citizens of the town interested in the matter which has been filling the local horizon for so long a time. The chairman called upon Col. Woodward to speak as there was no representative of the Lynn & Boston road present.

The Colonel explained the situation and said he thought the matter ought to be settled up. He had no interest in the L. & B. road but wanted the cars of the Lawrence & Reading road to come down town as soon as possible and desired that the tracks be arranged so as to best please the citizens of the town. It was upon his request that the L. & B. road had sent a communication consenting to a relocation.

Selectman Goldsmith then read a letter from a Lynn & Boston official, of which the following is of interest as bearing on the matter at issue:

"At the request of Charles F. Woodward, President of the Lawrence & Reading Street Railway company, we make the following statement:

That if it is deemed wise to change the location of the tracks as granted to the Lowell, Lawrence & Haverhill Street Railway company, so that the two tracks on the street may be located equi distant from the centre of the same, the Lynn & Boston Railroad company will not object to such a change and will at once rebuild their track, locating it in the location that may be determined upon by the Board of Selectmen.

As you are aware, we have had rails on the street for a long time but on account of the uncertainties existing have not made use of them, but if the matter is definitely decided upon today, we will commence on or before Wednesday, next. Also issue transfers to Andover Square at the same time.

Respectfully yours,
E. C. FOSTER,
Vice President and Gen'l Man'gr.

Chairman Goldsmith asked if any one had anything to say upon the question of relocation.

John L. Smith wanted to know if there was not something in the charter granted to the Lawrence & Reading road which stated that if the road was absorbed by some other company the location of tracks was to be revoked and the tracks removed.

Selectman Goldsmith replied that if the company changed hands the tracks could be removed.

Mr. Smith went on to repeat a conversation which he said he had with Mr. Sullivan, president of the L. L. & H., in which the latter said that the L. & R. cars could run over the L. L. & H. tracks to the square as well as not if the L. & R. officials would only make application in writing to do so. On being asked what the conditions were, replied "the usual conditions," so much per car per mile, etc. If these terms did not suit, the matter could be left to three disinteresfed parties, one to be chosen by each road, they to choose the third, or to the R.R. commissioners for arbitration. Mr. Smith thought there had been an undercurrent working along all the time this question had been before the town for settlement and was sure there had been some funny business somewhere. He thought the double tracks would be terribly bad for grocery wagons, especially in the winter when the snow would be piled up in the streets. It was a shame, he thought, that the town authorities should be wheedled or fooled into giving up rights for the interests of anybody.

Prof. Moore thought that the reason for two tracks was because there were two separate companies "at childish loggerheads who couldn't expect to settle the matter among themselves, hence the two tracks." Now the reason given was that one line with proper sidings was inadequate to accommodate the traffic. He mentioned South Lawrence as a reason why one line would be sufficient. Andover would only have six cars an hour going through the main street, he added.

Col. Woodward said he had always stated in the hearings during the past year, that two tracks were necessary in his estimation on Main street. He said that when the Haverhill road and the Middleton road were built it would be very inconvenient if there were only one track as cars are not always on time. There is a petition now in for an extension of the Haverhill line up Elm street to North Andover Centre where the cars will connect with the Lynn & Boston road and it is probable that there will be a belt line of cars running around there sometime, further reasons why one track would be insufficient. He repeated that he had no interest in the Lynn & Boston road but that one could hardly blame them for waiting before relaying their rails under the present unsettled condition of affairs.

John N. Cole inquired if a proper transfer system between the two roads having the L. L. & H. cars stop at the square, could not be arranged obviating the necessity of two tracks on Main street.

Col. Woodward thought not and that it would be very inconvenient for the public.

John L. Smith thought the general good ought to be considered and not the convenience of corporations. If the selectmen had granted rights to what they supposed were two companies, he hoped they would use every means in their power now in delaying the granting of double tracks. He was sure the riding public would not want to sacrifice the prosperity of the town to accommodate any corporation. Mr. Smith said that with proper turnouts, such as a long one in front of the seminary, perhaps, with electrical block signals, there could be no difficulty or danger on the street, and all the cars could be easily operated over one rail.

Prof. Smyth agreed with the last speaker, that the public good should be determinative. The public good, however, was not in being willing to sacrifice a half mile of street in front of the seminary or the other half mile to the Square, nor does the town want to sacrifice Main street. "Main street is the main county road, and we can't get over the fact, connecting Boston and Lawrence and Concord. Travel is increasing constantly over it. The state is interested in making it the main highway, as shown by the large amount appropriated for state road, more being expended here than in any other town in the state. Delays in doing the town's share are dangerous, and are likely to lose the town the appropriation for the completion of the highway." He wished the real estate interests could be preserved for the abuttors. "But what we have to look at is the great stream of travel which is now flowing through Andover over the main street. In order that there may be a line from Lawrence to Boston, or Andover square to Boston with a great reduction of fare, it is absolutely necessary that there should be promptness in starting from the square. Five or eight minutes delay in starting cannot help putting people out of connection. We must have prompt, sure connections. Unless people have watched the travel they can have no idea of the great numbers using the Reading cars. If there is only one track it will be necessary to telephone, then creep along to the next turnout, often times causing people to lose connections. Is the grocer's wagon to be set up against all this travel?"

John L. Smith said "yes."

"Such objections are trifling," said Prof. Smyth. "Snow can be removed in Andover, as in other towns. Some aid should be secured from the electric corporations for better streets; we can have the rails on the street and still have the street in as good, if not better, condition than at present." He spoke of the money the electric roads pay to the town through the state and thought some of it or all might be used in keeping Main street in repair, if the roads are injuring it. He mentioned, in closing, mothers with babies, and elderly people, forced to stand without shelter while waiting for a car at the end of the route. Rapid transit is what is needed, and the people of Andover have a right to the swiftest, most economical passage to neighboring towns. In reply to the statement made by Mr. Smith that some people who travelled would be better off at home, he said that some people were obliged to travel, some can go by other means than electrics, as by carriage, and some people prefer to remain at home. The larger public requires the electrics. A switch and turnout at the foot of the hill on Main street would be dangerous. The people's safety is in the straight rail.

John E. Smith mentioned Wakefield, where, he said, several lines run over one rail, as a parallel case to Andover.

Col. Woodward replied that Wakefield was a parallel case, but that at Wakefield they have just what we want in Andover, a double track of about a quarter mile's length where the lines come together.

Joseph A. Smart said that in his opinion as only one track was required between Andover and Lawrence only one would be needed on Main street. He advocated delay, as present travel required only one track.

Judge Poor thought that it had been decided by the local board and by the Railroad commissioners very emphatically that "public necessity required two tracks on Main street," and that the hearing was merely a formality, so that the selectmen could go to work and relocate the rails. He wished that the selectmen had revoked the franchise of the L. L. & H. road in the first place and then the town might have been able to make terms with them now. The Lynn & Boston road has the town at a disadvantage, inasmuch as their franchise was granted to them at a time when conditions were different from what they are today. If the selectmen are to relocate the tracks, he did not see what was the use of the discussion about two tracks. The only thing for the selectmen to do was to go ahead and locate them to the best of their ability. If the L. & B. road assents to a relocation, the thing for the selectmen to do is to go ahead and do their duty.

J. W. Barnard endorsed what Judge Poor said. If the people wanted two tracks and the selectmen had granted two tracks, the town doesn't want to go back on its word.

Col. Woodward thought he had been doing the town a favor when he got the Lynn & Boston road to agree to a relocation bringing both tracks nearer the centre of the street, but did not see what all the discussion amounted to now that the franchise had been granted. Selectman Goldsmith replied that the board could revoke the franchise of the L. & B. road, to which the colonel rereplied that the road would certainly make every effort to fight such a revocation.

Judge Poor said that he did not wish it understood that he advocated a revocation now, but that some time ago this would have enabled the town to make better terms.

John L. Smith said the town ought to get all they could now, then go ahead.

The fact that both roads were under one management was suggested, but Judge Poor replied that there were undoubtedly two corporations and would continue two corporations, because the men who control the roads are bright men and know what they are about. Both roads have rights and they can't be deprived of them by the town.

The hearing was then adjourned.

After the hearing, Col. Woodward said he would make arrangements whereby free transfers would be issued at once from Andover square to the Reading cars and vice versa and this issuance was to be started on or before last Wednesday.

The selectmen held a meeting of the board Saturday evening and decided to relocate the Lynn & Boston road according to request.

That the Lynn & Boston road have accepted the new franchise, calling for a relocation of their tracks on Main street under the same conditions as their

BASEBALL

Andover 8; St. Charles, 6.

On the P. A. campus last Saturday afternoon, the strong Andover town team played a great game against the St. Charles team of Woburn, defeating them by the score of 8 to 6. This was the first game of the season for the locals, but their work showed up creditably, amply demonstrating that the town will be represented by a superior aggregation of ball tossers this summer.

The boys batted well and their hits were many of them timely, coming when hits meant runs. Pomeroy got only one of Andover's seven, but his one was good for three bags. McNally and Maloney also batted strongly, each getting a couple. Reed pitched a strong game for the town team, allowing only five hits. He also fielded his position finely. Buchan played a speedy game at short, having one put out and four assists to his credit, without an error. Maloney put up a good back stop game besides throwing well to bases.

J. Doherty fielded and batted well for the visitors, while Harkins caught P. Doherty's rather speedy delivery in good style. Reed's curves were a little too much for the men from Woburn, however, and ten of them fanned.

The local boys wish it understood that they are grateful for the financial support of the townspeople and they will try to get in shape a team which will be a credit to the town. They desire games with amateur teams in this vicinity.

former franchise, or rather the franchise given to the Lowell, Lawrence & Haverhill road, formerly the Merrimack Valley Street Railway company, there seems to be no manner of doubt, as work was begun on Tuesday in making a preliminary survey, while on Wednesday afternoon the work of removing the paving stones at the end of the route on the hill was begun, and on Thursday morning the rails commenced to come up.

The conditions, being the same as in the old franchise, will call for granite paving between and to a certain distance outside the rails. It is stated that one of the selectmen was opposed to granting the relocation without certain conditions, one of them the macadamizing of the street from the curbstone to the track with vitrified brick between the rails, and certain others more or less stringent, but the other two members of the board objected. The board will, however, endeavor to get the Lynn & Boston road to macadamize between the rails, and a portion of the street, instead of relaying the paving stones, or culls.

On Wednesday the giving of transfers from the L. L. & H. road to the L. & R. and vice versa from and to Andover square began, according to Col. Woodward's promise given last Saturday afternoon. This means a ten cent ride from Andover square to Reading or five cents to the L. & R. power house. Of course the same thing holds with trips in the other direction. The fare to Lawrence remains just the same, fifteen cents. A transfer does through passengers to Lawrence no good. It will not be very long before the rails of the L. L. & H. and L. & R. are connected, doing away with the necessity for transfers.

Supt. Nowell told a Townsman reporter Wednesday that the rails for the completion of the relaying of the tracks between Andover and Lawrence were shipped five days ago from Pennsylvania and should be here any day. He expects a difficult job in relocating as an entirely new road bed will have to be dug down Main street through some extremely hard, rocky soil. The rails for the L. & R. road will probably not be laid at the same time, he stated.

TROUBLES OF A MINISTER.

To benefit others Rev. J. T. W. Vernon, of Hartwell, Ga., writes: "For a long time I had a running sore on my leg. Concerning the Shirt Waist.

The shirt waist costume might almost be termed the uniform of the American woman, for it is found in the wardrobe of those of high and low degree. But there are shirt waists and shirt waists, with wearers to correspond, and it requires no small expenditure of time and patience to adjust one of those waists so that the wearer shall look trim and dainty.

It is no exaggeration to say that the most complicated organdie or other summer fabric gown can be donned in less time than it takes to properly and carefully adjust a lawn or madras shirt waist. To add to the trouble involved in getting into these cool looking blouses, the newest of the season's output are buttoned down the back, and this necessitates assistance.

But whether the fastening be at the front or back, the best waists have a waistband only at the back and are loose in front. This allows for the pinning of the folds so as to give the desired long waisted effect, and no other method has been found so satisfactory as adjustment with the aid of safety pins. Of course, the pins wear out the fabric but the waist will usually last out the season, and next year it will be out of date.

A woman who looks remarkably well in shirtwaists says that it takes her half an hour to adjust one correctly with the aid of nine small safety pins. Another quarter of an hour is spent in the manipulation of the tie and stock, for there is an art and knack about this also, and any old twist of a ribbon or strip of pique or lace edged lawn will not do. The shirt waist looks cooler than the ordinary fussy dress waist, and to look cool is an achievement worthy of emulation when the thermometer is soaring toward the century mark. Then, too, soft stocks and ties are the leaders this season and this means a much greater degree of coolness and comfort for the shirt waist wearer than with the old time stiff linen collar.

YESTERDAY'S ACCIDENTS.

Herman Kress, Jr., of 197 Union street, son of Herman Kress, the well known wood and coal dealer at 195 Union street and 11 South Union street, was the victim of a very severe accident yesterday which cost him the first and fourth fingers of his right hand.

The injury was caused by a buzz saw and besides sustaining the loss of his fingers, young Kress received a bad laceration of the thumb and other fingers. He was removed to the General hospital, where his injuries were dressed by Dr. McAllister.

Annie Stiende, employed at the Washington mills, was treated at the General hospital yesterday for a bad laceration of the end of the first finger of the left hand.

There is a movement on foot to reorganize the Lawrence lodge of Machinists, which was suspended from the national lodge on account of the nonpayment of dues. The central body will be called upon to render whatever assistance they can. At the meeting of the Central Labor union Wednesday evening, when the matter will be broached, a representative of the Lowell lodge will speak on the subject.

The officers of Lady Washington lodge, No. 6, I. O. Daughters of St. George, were installed Tuesday night at their regular meeting by Grand Deputy Mrs. Westwell, assisted by Emma Dugdale and Elizabeth Brooks: Annie Craven, president; Rachel Lloyd, vice president; Sarah E. Berry, recording secretary; Elizabeth Tennant, financial secretary; Alice Whitehead, treasurer; Phebe Aspinall, chaplain; Hannah Mosley, conductor; N. E. Dawson, assistant conductor; Alberta Tillotson, inner guard; Phebe J. Prior, outer guard; Emma Dugdale, trustee. After the meeting refreshments were served and arrangements were completed for their annual trolly ride to Salisbury beach on July 10th.

The Poore Factory.

The fine new factory of Eugene E Poore, manufacturer of crackers and fancy biscuits, at 13 to 21 Railroad street was thrown open to inspection Monday afternoon and evening from 2 to 8 o'clock, and between those hours hundreds called at the establishment to attend the formal opening and go through the large and finely equipped building. Every courtesy was shown to the visitors, and attendants were at every hand to show them through the various departments and explain the machines and process by which the fancy and toothsome crackers and biscuits are manufactured. At the rear of the first floor was stationed Caterer Fred D. Lane and his waiters who dispensed ices, crackers and fancy biscuits, and lemonade to the guests.

About 40 hands are employed at the factory, 25 of them being the old help from the Bruce bakery, men who were thrown out at the time the Bruce bakery was shut down and the help discharged. Mr. Poore's establishment has been in operation about four months and is now running practically full time. Goods are being sold all over New England and delivery wagons are being run in this city to supply local dealers. The factory is not in any way connected with the trusts and Mr. Poore is the sole owner and manager.

When Mr. Poire returned from dinner yesterday afternoon, he was surprised to find upon the walls of his office a beautiful oil painting from the brush of Willis Plummer of South Lawrence and a fine large Seth Thomas clock, giving not only the time of day but also the day of the week, month, and day of the month. Under the clock was the following self explanatory note: "As a token of friendship and feeling of good will toward his new enterprise, his employes join his friends in presenting Mr. Eugene E. Poore with this clock and picture. May his business efforts be as prompt and steady as this timepiece and may the results be as steadfast as the storm-beaten rocks in the picture."

Mr. Poore also received a large floral horseshoe from his friend, T. B. Murphy. On the piece was inscribed "Good Luck." This was displayed in a conspicuous place on the first floor.

The factory is in a large, new building about 100 by 50 feet and has its main entrance from a driveway off Railroad street. On the same lot is also a commodious stable where the horses and wagons of the establishment are kept.

The cellar of the building is used as a storeroom and here are kept such materials as flour, lard, molasses, butter, sugar, etc.

The office and shipping department are on the first floor and also the engine room and boiler room. The boiler is of the McCabe make and the engine, a 40-horse power agent, is from the Atlantic works.

On the second floor is the packing room and baking department with its large oven which proved to be very interesting to the many visitors. The dough mixing machinery, cutters, and rollers were all here and were in operation. Dough was put into one end of a machine and out it came at the other end all cut and ready for the oven. The big revolving oven next received the cut dough and in a few minutes the crackers were raked out and hauled away to be packed for shipping and distribution.

The barrelled supplies take up a large portion of the third and top floor and here also is the box-making department. Flour is poured into the sieves from this floor and is sifted and carried down to the bake room through flues. At the rear of this floor is the icing department and here the fancy biscuits receive their finishing touches and are packed.

The building is supplied with a large freight elevator which in the center of the structure, runs from basement to top floor.

PLENTY OF CANDIDATES.

There are many candidates for the superintendency of the Water works, the position left vacant by the death of Mr. Salisbury. Prominent among those mentioned is Michael F. Collins, ex-superintendent of streets, now of the water department. D. J. O'Mahoney will have considerable backing it is said. Among others mentioned are: Joseph Dustin, a machinist, and brother of the late John E. Dustin, Daniel P. Desmond, head clerk of the Lawrence Flour mills and ex-Foreman of the Street Department John Sheehan.

It is probable that the position will not be filled, however, until the next regular meeting of the board July 31 although a special session may be called for that purpose.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

NEW COMPANY.

The J. F. Bingham company, manufacturers of tin and brass ware, which recently assigned, has been reorganized as a corporation to be known as the J. F. Bingham Manufacturing company. The business will be carried on with practically no changes. The capital stock of the new corporation is $75,000. The members of the firm are George H. Towne of Cambridge, Edward L. Prescott of Boston, and George W. Herrick, of Boston.

A satisfactory settlement of the affairs of the old concern has been made and a successful future for the business seems assured.

Will Broken.

At a session of the probate court, held in this city Monday, Judge Harmon presiding, the decision in the William Holmes will contest was announced. Judge Harmon disallowed the will. An appeal was taken by Lawyer Charles A. Sargent, who represents the beneficiary under the will, and the matter will be heard at the session of the supreme court in Salem next November.

It will be remembered that the will in question, which was that of Police Officer William Holmes, bequeathed all his property, amounting to about $5000, to Mrs. Sarah Parsons, who says he was planning to marry her. The will was contested by a sister, brother and niece of Mr. Holmes, on the ground that he was of unsound mind when it was drawn, the contestants being represented by Bradley & Rogers. There was a protracted hearing before Judge Harmon, many witnesses testifying to queer actions by Mr. Holmes some time before he was committed to Danvers and prior to the date of the will.

By the decision of Judge Harmon, if sustained by the supreme court, the property will be divided among the relatives.

A hearing was held in regard to the contest of the will of the late Thomas Fitzsimmons, who bequeathed practically all his property, amounting to $2500, to his daughter, Mrs. Catherine Jordan of this city. The will is contested by a son, John Fitzsimmons, of North Andover, and a daughter, Mrs Lizzie Charleton of this city. Under the will the son and daughter received only $100 each. The contestants claim that their father was aged and unsound mind when the will was drawn. DeCourcy, Coulson & Cox appear for the will and J. P. S. Mahoney for the contestants.

Three witnesses testified today. John Breen stated that he drew the will July 16, 1899, at the request of Mr. Fitzsimmons. The will was witnessed by John Hickey and William J. Hayes. All three witnesses testified that in their opinion Mr. Fitzsimmons was of sound mind and Mr. Breen said that he wrote the will as it was dictated to him by Mr. Fitzsimmons. In his cross examination of the witnesses Mr. Mahoney asked if Mr. Fitzsimmons was not frequently intoxicated. Mr. Breen and Mr. Hickey said that they did not know of his drinking.

The hearing was continued until July 18 at Salem.

A BIG DEAL.

The biggest real estate deal covering the transfer of residential property ever consummated in Lawrence was made a matter of record Monday in the purchase by Hon. Guy W. Currier of the entire vacant land east of Jackson street, known as the Durant property.

A plan of the land shows that by this purchase Mr. Currier acquires the most valuable vacant land in the centre of the city. Bounded as it is by Jackson street and Irving avenue, it contains lots on Wilmot, Belmont, Avon and Kendrick streets, showing in all 67 lots of good size and location.

The desirability of the neighborhood is already assured through the purchase in past years from the Durant heirs, of house lots by Congressman Knox, T. M. Cogswell, J. H. Greer J. W. Higgins, H. G. Herrick, C. E. Bailey, C. E. Scheffler, F. W. Kidd, Geo. W. Dodson, and other well known citizens.

There are nearly 300,000 feet of land in the entire property, and it is Mr. Currier's design to place it upon the market at once. Sewer and water pipes are already laid, and several new houses of attractive design will be built by the owner this season. The lots will be sold with restrictions as to value of house to be built, location, etc., and every effort will be made to make the property of the same high standard of desirability as has marked all of the other very successful real estate movements carried on by Senator Currier. The minimum price of this land has always been kept at 25 cents a foot by the Durant heirs, but much of it promises to bring a great deal higher price now that it is actually on the market.

An eighth of a mile from the common; a half mile from Essex street: it altogether offers the most attractive residential property to be found in the city, and the city is to be congratulated that its development is in the hands of a man who has so thoroughly demonstrated his ability to build up attractively and successfully as Mr. Currier has done in the past ten years' work on his other property.

Help for Women
Who Are Always Tired.

"I do not feel very well, I am so tired all the time."

You hear these words every day; as often as you meet your friends just so often are these words repeated. More than likely you speak the same significant words yourself, and no doubt you do feel far from well most of the time.

Mrs. Ella Rice, of Chelsea, Wis., whose portrait we publish, writes that she suffered for two years with bearing-down pains, headache, backache, and had all kinds of miserable feelings, all of which was caused by falling and inflammation of the womb, and after doctoring with physicians and numerous medicines she was entirely cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you are troubled with pains, fainting spells, depression of spirits, reluctance to go anywhere, headache, backache, and always tired, please remember that there is an absolute remedy which will relieve you of your suffering as it did Mrs. Rice. Proof is monumental that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the greatest medicine for suffering women.

GENTLEMEN:

The poultry crop is coming on. Statistics show that 50 per cent of the hatch succumb to diseases and lice each year.

Pan-a-ce-a and Instant Louse Killer

Counteract these two evils

There is no use talking; PAN-A-CE-A prevents and cures diseases as no Poultry Food can; it also makes poultry grow fast, healthy and strong.

INSTANT LOUSE KILLER is better adapted for a greater variety of conditions than any other louse exterminator ever known. Being a powder it can be sprinkled on the roosts, nests, and dust-bath, and on the body of animals where it catches the lice at home.

It also destroys sheep ticks, bugs and lice on vegetation.

E. church by the Epworth league. Previous to the reception Mr. Pearson gave his stereopticon lecture on the state of Washington" in the auditorium of the church. There was a good sized audience present to listen to it. The views included photographs of cities, mountains, and other scenery in the state, as well as of the people. It was a very interesting series of pictures, and well worth seeing. After the lecture the guests went to the vestry of the church where an informal reception was tendered. Speeches were made by Rev. Mr. Pearson, Rev. W. T. Boultenhouse and A. P. Whiton. There was also singing under the direction of Mr. Whiton. For an hour or more, Mr. Pearson shook hands with his many friends who expressed their pleasure at being able to see him, and wished him every success in his field of labor in the west. Patriotic Concert.

An interesting concert was given Sunday night at the Congregational church by the children of the Sunday school, assisted by the church choir. The concert was of a patriotic nature and was in every respect well rendered, showing that those who had the matter in charge had spent much time and pains in their work, and the result certainly reflected much credit upon them and upon the participants. The committee in charge comprised: Mr. C. H. Oliphant, Miss Elizabeth Morse, Mrs. Sarah B. Davis, Mrs. Alfred Newsholme and Miss Marion B. Emerson. The church was artistically decorated with red, white and blue bunting, and with flags, presenting a very attractive appearance. At 6 o'clock the children marched into the church from the chapel, singing "Onward, Christian Soldiers" and took seats near the platform. After prayer was offered by Rev. C. H. Oliphant the exercises began. The program was as follows:

CHILD BURNED.

A fire occurred this morning in the upper tenement of a house on Center street owned by Dennis Farragher, and occupied by Lorenzo Mercer in which the 2-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Mercer narrowly escaped being burned to death. Shortly after 5.30 o'clock while Mrs. Mercer was getting breakfast, a lighted oil stove was accidentally overturned in the kitchen. The flames which arose caught in the crib, in the room, and in which the child was lying, and before it could be reached it had enveloped the child. Mr. Mercer snatched the clothing away from the child but not before its body and feet had been quite badly burned. In his endeavor to save the child his own foot was somewhat burned. An alarm was sounded from box 54 at the corner of Camden and Center streets which brought the fire department quickly to the scene. The fire was extinguished with one chemical tank. The damage will not be more than $10. It is not thought that the child's injuries will prove fatal, although they are very painful.

ASPHYXIATED.

Mrs. John Regan of 32 Storrow street died Sunday afternoon, probably from asphyxiation by illuminating gas, despite the efforts of several physicians to save her.

Her husband awoke Sunday morning and detecting the smell of gas, proceeded to investigate. He found his wife gasping for breath and her bedroom filled with gas. A partly open gas jet told the story.

Drs. William J. Sullivan, Fleming, Magee and Bradley were summoned and worked hard to bring Mrs. Regan back to consciousness but without success. The unfortunate woman sank rapidly until 3.15 o'clock when she passed away without regaining consciousness. The physicians are unanimously of the opinion that the unfortunate lady had a shock previous to the escape of the gas, and that death was partially at least due to that cause.

Deceased leaves besides her husband, five children, two brothers, and one sister, Mrs. Hannah Kelleher.

WITH BOWED HEADS.

A large gathering of sympathetic friends and associates listened to the solemn rites which marked the funeral of the late Arnold H. Salisbury.

Brief funeral services were held in Greenland, N. H., Saturday afternoon by Rev. Dr. Edward Roble of the Congregational church of that place. The body arrived in this city about 7 o'clock Saturday evening and was taken to the family home, 91 East Haverhill street. The following acted as pallbearers, the first two being from Kearsarge encampment and the others from United Brothers lodge, I. O. O. F.: M. D. Currier, Frank D. Bryant, Walter Cox and Nelson Berry. Between 11 and 1 o'clock many viewed the remains. The water department employes attended in a body, and also many members of the city government, city officials, leading business men and prominent citizens. The body was surrounded by beautiful floral offerings.

At 3 o'clock Rev. A. H. Amory opened the services with prayer. A fitting tribute was paid to the life of the deceased. The Odd Fellows ritual was read. The remains will lay at the house until this morning, when they will be taken to Providence, R. I., where they will be interred by the side of the late Mrs. Salisbury.

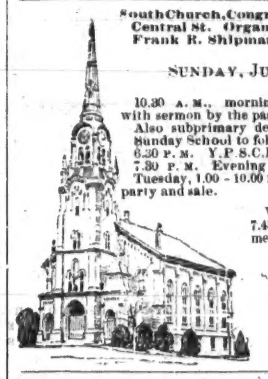

Among the large number of floral pieces were: Large bank of lilies, roses and pinks, from the Lawrence water board; gates ajar, officers and employes of water works; emblematic tent, Kearsarge encampment, I. O. O. F.; anchor on base, Mayflower colony, U. O. P. F.; wreath and cross, inscribed "Father," from the children; sickle and wreath, C. N. Perkins & Co.; spray of pinks, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Marble; basket, Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Adams; sheaf of wheat, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Emmert and Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Emmert and family; spray and bouquet of sweet peas, Mrs. W. H. Salisbury of Chicago; spray, W. H. Salisbury of Chicago; sprays, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Humphrey, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Twiss and Mrs. G. C. Quincy of Boston.

Again, for about the third year in succession, the rope which flies the flag from the Johnson high school flag-pole, was taken sometime during the night of the third of July. If the young men who had a hand in the affair had only stopped and considered what it meant to the janitor to be unable to fly the stars and stripes on the glorious 4th, it is questionable whether the rope would have been taken. Mr. Healey takes great pride in floating the school flag on flag-days and is always very punctual in the observance of such occasions.

A well known citizen in town met with a providential escape, Sunday. While the family was sitting in conversation the nephew of the gentleman in question, who was among those present, picked up a loaded revolver which lay upon the table and in a jocular manner, without consideration, he aimed at his uncle and pulled the trigger. The bullet flew from its chamber and struck the chair on which the uncle sat, shattering two rounds. It was a close call for Mr. —— as the shot from the weapon passed just between his arm and body.

The fact that Saturday's weather was threatening with lowering clouds did not dampen the spirits of the members of St. Paul's Sunday school, who turned out in large numbers at the annual picnic last Saturday. The event proved, as in the past, very successful. The Columbia orchestra of Lawrence furnished music for dancing. One of the chief features of the day was a base ball game between the North Andovers of town and the Christ church base ball team of Andover. The game was brought to a close in the eighth inning, on account of a poor decision by the umpire. The score stood 6 to 3 in Andover's favor. The line up of the teams was as follows: Andover—Foster p, Collins c, Wrigley 1, Long 2, Souter 3 Rugaman ss Abbott rf, Sellers cf and G. Abbott lf. North Andovers—Kershaw and Kelley p, Curley c, Daw 1, Kershaw and Kelley ss, Houghton 2, Hamlin 3, Carey and Taylor rf, Donley cf, Reid lf.

Reynolds, Clara Hosmer, Sallie Field and Lettie Drew. boat race, Albert G. Moody. The feature of the outing was the baseball game played by picked nines from the Sunday school. The teams had for captains, Dr. Smith and Druggist Perkins. Clements and Perkins formed the battery for Perkins' team, while Holt and Dr. Smith did the heavy work for the other side. At the finish the score stood 7 to 6 in favor of Dr. Smith's side. A VACATION RECREATION PLACE.

Northern New England is the summer pleasure and vacation ground for the world. No other section can boast of scores of lakes, a hundred beaches and a whole mountain range within the meagre boundaries of a hundred square miles, yet this is what New England has, and, though there are thousands of tourists annually at these resorts, there can be accommodated hundreds of thousands more.

Every nook and corner of New England is an outing resort and the Boston & Maine lines reach all the leading ones. If you are interested in or intend to take a vacation this season, you want a Boston & Maine Excursion Book. It's free for the asking. Send a postal to General Passenger Dept. (21), B. & M. R. CAN'T WONDER AT IT.—No seashore resort on the Atlantic coast has a greater regular clientele than Old Orchard. It is remote from the great centres and yet the distance is not so great but what it can be reached easily. Old Orchard is a strange yet delightful mixture of forest and seashore. On one side are deep groves of green pines, on the other a measureless sea view. Where the Camp Meetings are held is a most fascinating spot and the meetings like that of the Christian Workers, which by the way are to be held July 17 to Aug. 1, are ever the source of unlimited value from an educational standpoint. Those who have these meetings in charge aim to make them interesting and that they are successful is determined from the vast throngs that attend them. For this series of meetings the Boston and Maine Railroad has arranged the usual low rates and information regarding them will be gladly furnished by your ticket agent.

NOR GO WEST.

"In order to be great or famous," said the ambitious youth, "it is not necessary to mingle in the haunts of pomp or attract the patronage of the great. Look at Diogenes. He lived his own simple life and made a success of it."

"Yes," answered the practical person "but I doubt if we would ever have heard a word about Diogenes if Alexander the Great had not stopped one day to pat him on the back."—Washington Star.

A Practical Note

Spite of its duties
Life will have beauties
And we may live in content
With a blue sky above us
And some one to love us,
And a check book to settle the rent.
—Atlanta Constitution.

A well known naval officer, with an extensive list of stories and a knack in their telling, relates the following:

"Someone had brought grog aboard ship in goodly quantities, and a large share of the crew reported to quarters one afternoon in anything but a fit condition to work the vessel. Next morning the captain started a rigid investigation of the affair. The crew was again lined up on deck and in turn each member was catechised.

"'Goodacre, stand out,' would call the chief petty officer, and then the skipper would say:

"'Goodacre, do you know who brought the liquor aboard ship yesterday?'

"'I cannot answer, sir,' the man replied.

"So it went through the whole list of the crew, and the officers were well-nigh at their wits' end to know how to get at the bottom of the whole affair. Suddenly there appeared a rift in the black cloud of mystery.

"A coal passer, just up from the fire hole, came on deck, and walking up to the commander, saluted, saying:

"'You have not asked me yet, captain.'

"Agrunt of satisfaction came from the skipper. Here at last was an honest man among all the crew. He would tell all.

"'Well, Smithers, who brought the grog on board?'

"'I cannot answer, sir'.

"What happened to him? Well, it did not get into the official reports."—Exchange.
